Flying drones is a heap of fun for you but not necessarily for others.

No-one wants a drone buzzing around them without permission the same goes for flying over private property

So, stay away – unless the owners say it's OK.

It's the same with public parks and reserves – check with the local council that drones are allowed.

Even then, stay well away from people, and don't fly directly over them, unless they say it's OK.

Also keep a safe distance away from buildings – that's to prevent damage and protect privacy.

Be considerate when flying your drone.

That's how you fly the right way.
